Haverhill finally get campaign under way
BACK PAGE

Anger: Haverhill mayor Maureen Byrne has slammed the "appalling" way the town has been treated by NHS Suffolk – see page 2.

THE battle to safeguard the future of Haverhill's health services is gathering momentum as support pours in for a Weekly News campaign.

Patients have described the threatened closure of the Crown Health Centre as a "tragedy" for the town.

And since we launched our "Fight for Haverhill Health Services" campaign last Thursday, more than 1,000 people have signed up to pledge their support to our bid to force NHS Suffolk to reverse the decision to close the centre in October – or at least until funding has been guaranteed for sufficient replacement services.

Our readers have hailed the potentially life-saving walk-in service at the centre as "outstanding" – and many have vowed to fight to save it from closure.

BY RAYMOND BROWN &amp; ALEX DAY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Katrina Whittaker, 29, an admin manager, of Russett Close, was helped by doctors at the Withersfield Road clinic when she suffered from anxiety and depression and her partner Luke Edwards, 31, has been treated there for injuries.

She said: "I would do anything to help save the health centre. The receptionists and doctors there are just outstanding and helped me through a very difficult time when I suffered from mental health problems."

"The Government has been pushing for out-of-hours services like this so that hard-working people can access treatment before and after work and to take it away would impact on the health of the town and businesses."

"It would be an absolute tragedy if it closed. My partner had to use it when he had a deep cut in his leg and when he cut his chest with a sander and they fixed his wounds instead of him having to go to Addenbrooke's.

"I think it is disgusting that the facility is being removed."

The centre was set up in 2009 to reduce accident and emergency attendances at West Suffolk and Addenbrooke's hospitals but is now set to close in October.

Health chiefs claim the centre has failed to fulfil its original goal of providing extra services for Haverhill, saying it duplicates health care.

The centre costs £1.2m a year to run. It would cost £500,000 to move to a permanent location and the lease on the current site in Withersfield Road expires in December.

But Haverhill Town Council and MP Matthew Hancock have backed our campaign to keep it open and users of the service say it is essential.

Our campaign demands that local

Minister heading to town to look at ways to cut unemployment

GOVERNMENT minister Chris Grayling is heading to Haverhill's Jobcentre today.

The Employment Minister, left, is in town to discuss efforts to raise employment and reduce unemployment.

He will be at the Jobcentre Plus in High Street and will later meet local employers to talk about improving employment prospects in Haverhill at the Arts Centre.

Speaking ahead of the visit, Suffolk West MP Matthew Hancock said: "It is fantastic that Chris Grayling is to come to Haverhill today to see what makes the town tick. The staff in the Jobcentre are on the front line when it comes to getting our young people back into work.

"I know that the Employment

Minister is also keen to hear from local employers in Haverhill.

"They are the ones who will generate the jobs that are so vital to getting the economy back on its feet and so it is important we listen to them."

health chiefs come to Haverhill to tell residents what provision they are making to cope with the 900 patients registered with the Crown Health Centre who will have to go elsewhere, and the 22,000 visits made there since it opened.

Haverhill's out-of-hours GP cover has already been cut, piling even more pressure on existing surgeries – at which long waits for an appointment are common – if the Crown closes, and we're demanding a fair share of new £24m funding allocated to NHS Suffolk to put sufficient alternative arrangements in place.

Responses have been flooding in through our online petition at www.haverhillweeklynews.co.uk, while completed petition forms – printed again on this page – have been dropped off at the Weekly News office and town council base at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The town council, which is co-ordinating the response with the Weekly News, held the first of a series of market stalls in the town centre on Saturday, to assess the level of public support for pedestrianisation of the High Street.

Following the launch of our campaign, visitors to the town centre were also invited to sign the petition.

Mayor Maureen Byrne said: "Over 800 people signed the petition in just a few hours, which shows the depth of feeling about the appalling way our town has been treated by NHS Suffolk.

"But this was only the start – we will be holding more market stalls so that as many people as possible have the opportunity to make their voices heard in Ipswich where this ridiculous and dangerous decision was made."

Further market stalls are planned for tomorrow and Saturday between 9am and 4pm.

Responding to our campaign, Douglas Pearl, of Honeysuckle Close, said of the health centre: "It is a fantastic service and they even saved my wedding ring. I fell over some deck chairs in the garden and went there.

"The doctor said either I take the ring off myself or we'll have to get the fire brigade in to cut it.

"It was blooming painful but I got it off and saved the ring – there was blood everywhere.

"It's an excellent service and must be saved."

■ At last Saturday's market stall, town councillors listened to the views of hundreds of shoppers, who were asked to complete a "ballot paper" asking whether the High Street should be closed to all traffic between 10am and 4pm.

"This is a simple, low-cost but very effective alternative to holding a town referendum on pedestrianisation, which had been suggested in a recent letter to local newspapers," said Cllr Byrne.

"It also has the advantage of giving people a chance to discuss the issue direct with councillors – in the right surroundings! – and we will repeat the event so that anyone who missed out on Saturday can still have their say."

The results will be presented to St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Suffolk County Council.

To the board members of NHS Suffolk

Please stop the closure of the Crown Health Centre until you have planned properly for Haverhill's future health needs. Please make your future decisions about the town in public and in Haverhill, so that we can have our say. We demand a fair share of the additional £24m funding for NHS Suffolk and if the Crown Health Centre is to close, we demand the equivalent investment in the GP and out-of-hours services.

Surprises as stamps sell for £1,500 at auction

NINE stamps found in a handed-down curiosity box sold for £1,500 at auction – five times what they were expected to fetch.

Fine art consultant Rupert Hanbury from Ousden sold the late 19th Century stamps for a client in Great Wrating. The stamps were in the box which the owner had inherited from her grandmother in 2001, along with some pigeon racing medals and coins. Her grandmother had lived in Yorkshire, but also travelled a lot.

Mr Hanbury said the stamps had been estimated at £250 to £300 and he had been pleasantly surprised that they raised so much.

He added: "It is quite unusual to make that sort of money, but if a couple of people are after something it can happen. A lot of people are buying stamps as an investment. I had a coin collection which went to London last year to another company and made £35,000."

Anyone who has items they would like valued can contact Mr Hanbury by e-mail at rupert.hanbury@BTInternet.com or ring 07795075250.

Charity's call to get tom cats neutered

A CAT charity is urging owners of cats, especially male ones, to get them neutered.

The Haverhill area branch of Cats Protection, the oldest charity solely dedicated to the welfare of cats, is making an urgent appeal. Every spring the branch receives a flood of calls from the public about stray tom cats that have turned up in their gardens, spraying and fighting.

The branch takes in as many as they can, neuters and rehomes them, but these cats take a long time to socialise again and take up badly needed spaces at the fosterers.

A spokesman for the group said: "The life of an un-neutered tom is sad – he is driven by looking for female cats and can go for miles. In the process many get knocked down or are killed by dogs and foxes."

"They are also prone to contracting feline Aids and other diseases, and have to fight for their food. Cats Protection will help people on low incomes with the cost of neutering."

To find out more about neutering male cats, call the Haverhill Cats Protection Helpline on 0845 371 9599 (local call rates apply).

New court date set for man in firearms case

A MAN accused of being in possession of illegal firearms at his home in Haverhill is due to appear in court.

Karl Dowling, 48, of Bramble Close, faces 21 separate charges in relation to the alleged discovery of illegal weapons at his home by police on February 5.

On Friday last week, Dowling appeared at Ipswich Crown Court for a preliminary hearing.

Dowling is charged with possession of weapons and ammunition without the necessary certificate or which are prohibited weapons.

Judge Rupert Overbury told Dowling that he must return to court on July 20 for a plea and case management hearing.

Dowling will continue to be granted unconditional bail until his next court appearance.

Life's a game for pupils

A CHANCE to join in table-top re-enactments of major battles was on offer to students visiting an exhibition.

Fifteen students from the games club at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill attended Salute 2012 at ExCeL, the UK's largest gathering of gamers and traders specialising in model historical re-enactment, such as the American Civil War, the First and Second World Wars, and the Dark Ages. The students regularly attend a games club at school and during the show had the opportunity to play new games and get involved in table top re-enactments. They also bought their own model armies and planes to use at college in skirmish games.

Miss Weston, community cohesion coordinator, said: "The club at college is going from strength to strength and it would be great to grow their collections. If anyone has any models, RPG dice or rule books that they could donate to the club, we would really appreciate it."

Crash led to drug haul

BY COURT REPORTER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A DRIVER'S BMW hit two police cars – but the incident led officers find almost £10,000 of cannabis at a farm near Haverhill, a court heard.

Along with packets of the drug ready for sale, officers found weighing scales, mobile phones and cash.

Ipswich Crown Court heard how the raid at Home Farm at Stradishall on December 13 came after a car being driven by Hanif Shakeri had been stopped near the village earlier the same day.

Emma Nash, prosecuting, said police had identified Shakeri, 24, as someone they wished to speak to and when his car was recognised by an automatic numberplate detection camera an attempt was made to stop him.

A patrol car put on its blue lights but Shakeri failed to stop, turning instead into the car park of a local business where officers attempted to cut him off and were involved in a collision with his BMW car.

Miss Nash said as a result of the impact the BMW spun around, striking a second police vehicle. Shakeri was arrested at the scene.

Inside his car was found cannabis and more than £2,000 in cash. Police obtained a warrant and searched the caravan in which Shakeri was living at Home Farm, Stradishall, together with outbuildings.

The caravan contained a small quantity of cannabis, a large number of plastic bags, seven mobile phones and four sets of digital scales.

In the outbuildings was found a total of 10kg of cannabis, some packed ready for sale in small bags and other in bulk. Much was packed inside 40 sports bags. In total £5,225 in cash was seized, the court heard on Tuesday.

When interviewed, Shakeri said because of a head injury he could not remember when or why he had arrived in the UK from his native Iran.

He claimed a man called "Paddy" forced him to store and package the cannabis and had been beaten up by him on a number of occasions.

The court was told that the farm, which was under renovation, was valued at £450,000 and had been purchased by Shakeri and a local builder through a limited company they had set up.

Shakeri initially pleaded not guilty to careless driving and possession of a class B drug with intent to supply but changed his plea to guilty five days before his trial was due to begin earlier this year.

Defending, Richard Kelly said that Shakeri received between £3,000 and £10,000 a month from his "wealthy" family in Iran. Shakeri's role had been limited and he had been acting under duress, he said.

Judge John Holt told Shakeri that he could not be sentenced until a further hearing to establish whether the purchase and renovation of Home Farm had been with legitimately-obtained money and establish Shakeri's involvement in the cannabis operation. No date has yet been set for the hearing until which time Shakeri will remain in custody.

We apologise for the error.

Police appeal over fuel siphoned from car

FUEL thieves are being hunted by police in Haverhill.

Officers are appealing for information after bids were made to steal fuel from cars in the area.

About a gallon of fuel was siphoned from a car in Chedburgh Place overnight between Sunday, May 6 and Monday, May 7.

There were two further attempts in the same evening at locations in Abington Place and Dalham Place, although no fuel was taken.

Police would like to hear from anyone who may have seen or heard anything suspicious in the area around that time.

Call Pc Carl Edley on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111 with any information.

Experts poised to dig up town's ancient history

HAVERHILL'S history will be uncovered by archaeologists at a research park.

A detailed investigation has begun on the Haverhill Research Park site, with the works this summer set to reveal more about the early history of the area before the site is redeveloped.

The investigation has been commissioned by developer Carisbrooke Investments, which has already undertaken trial-trenching in co-operation with the local planning authority.

Initial works identified prehistoric and Roman remains on the site, which could provide an interesting insight into the lives of people living in the Haverhill area more than 2,000 years ago.

Nic Rumsey, director of Carisbrooke Developments said: "While we are working to promote the future economic growth of Haverhill we are, of course, keen to participate in discovering the archaeological history of this important gateway site.

"We hope that these works will extend our knowledge of human history well beyond the limits of existing written records."

Joe Abrams, regional manager of Headland Archaeology, which is carrying out the investigation, added: "This is a welcome opportunity to reveal and investigate the remains of both prehistoric and Roman farming communities.

"Our research focus will be sensitive to the exact remains revealed at the site, and is expected to include the changes which took place as a result of the Roman conquest, and also those which came with the disintegration of that empire and the economy which survived within it.

"We believe the remains at Haverhill span both of these crucial periods, allowing us to tell the story of a Suffolk farming community on a local level and to reflect on how these major events affected their way of life."

Following completion of the on-site investigations in July, the archaeological team will prepare a detailed analysis of the samples including seeds, insects and other microscopic remains, which is due to be published next year.

Jackie's just happy to keep on running

A RUNNER reached a personal milestone this week after completing her 15th marathon.

Jackie Dockerill finished the Halstead event only weeks after completing the Bungay 26-miler last month. Jackie, 41 an accountant who runs her own business, crossed the line after 4hrs 13mins.

The mother-of-two, has been running for more than 17 years and completed her first marathon in 2001 at London.

She said: "The sense of achievement when completing a marathon is amazing and it's the thing that inspires me to do more."

The former Haverhill Running Club member, who has taken part in marathons in London, Paris, Stratford and the New Forest, also competes in triathlons.

Medal winner: Jackie Dockerill has completed two marathons in only a few weeks.

Pupils take a trip into Potterland

PUPILS wandered round Dumbledore's office and the Weasleys' kitchen during a film studio visit.

A group of 90 students from Samuel Ward Academy in Haverhill went on a media studies trip to the Warner Bros studio, where some of the films were shot.

The tour started with a short film in their plush cinema, with the stars of the Harry Potter films telling the audience about their experiences growing up on set. Then the doors to the Great Hall were opened and the students were led in.

A spokesman for the school said: "The atmosphere was electric and the attention to detail on every single prop was amazing. We were allowed to wander around Dumbledore's office, Harry Potter's dormitory bedroom, the Weasleys' kitchen. We could stroll up Diagon Alley (where Harry buys his wand) - it was jaw-dropping.

"Outside was the house, where Harry lived with his aunt and uncle (it was an actual brick built house) where it all started, the house where Harry's parents were killed, the Knight bus and the bridge that appears in the last film.

"In the creature shop we saw masks and models of the characters which were spookily life like. Lastly, the model of Hogwarts set in a room on its own with atmospheric lighting and music - again was amazing.

"In short, it was a great day that incorporated education and fun."

The students saw behind the magic of some special effects, had the chance to be filmed against a green screen on a broomstick and learnt some things about the filming process.

I've no idea what or where Crown Health Centre is...

Sir, I have lived in Haverhill now for 22 years, and I have to confess that I do not have the faintest idea where the Crown Health Centre is, nor what it does.

I have searched both the local telephone directory and Yellow Pages without being able to trace a phone number for it, and as far as I can see there is no mention of it in the latest Haverhill Information Guide, issued by the town council. Even your long piece in last week's Weekly News gives no clue as to its whereabouts.

It would seem to me therefore, that NHS Suffolk might be perfectly justified in closing it. If no one knows it exists, how can they be expected to use it?

George Saunders

EDITOR'S NOTE: We hope you don't have cause to use the walk-in centre in the coming weeks, Mr Saunders, but if you do it's in Withersfield Road – see www.thepracticeplc.com/crownhealth centre for contact details and a map. Meanwhile, readers have been flocking to back our health campaign – you can read first-hand stories from plenty of people who know it exists and have been helped by the Crown Health Centre on pages 1 and 2.

Sir, children's minister Tom Loughton has stated that "For me, marriage as a religious institution cannot be anything other than between a man and a woman, and particularly when all the rights and responsibilities of marriage are available to non-heterosexual couples through civil partnerships."

To deny marriage to any loving couple would be perverse found the opposite to be true.

For us religion is an ongoing search for what it means to live in truth and love. From the early days of Friends we have been aware that marriages are made by external forces – be that happenstance, grace of God or whatever – and that "we are but witnesses" (George Fox, 1698)

Much has been made of rights and responsibilities being available through civil partnerships with the inference that marriage (and the right to have a union legally recognised in a religious setting) is especially between a man and a woman.

It is precisely this specialness which 1,200 Quakers, including several from Saffron Walden meeting (the local meeting for Haverhill), after a week of careful reflection decided should be extended to all couples. To deny marriage to any loving couple seems perverse.

We will continue to stand for what we believe to be truth and love and to work for legal recognition of same-sex marriage.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Haverhill WI May meeting

AT a well-attended meeting, one visitor was welcomed with the members. After notice of forthcoming events was given, a discussion took place on preferences for arrangements, including venues, for the national celebrations of the WI centenary to take place in 2015.

Arrangements for the outing, to Bressingham, on May 23, were finalised and outings secretary Maureen Mathews was thanked for her efforts. As May is the month for voting on the resolutions to be brought to the national AGM our secretary, Chris Thompson, guided us through a very lively discussion about the need for more midwives in the NHS. Chris was thanked by the president, and refreshments, raffle and "chat" time followed.

Meetings are held at Chalkstone Community Centre on the second Tuesday of each month at 10am. Visitors and new members will be made very welcome.

St Nicholas Hospice

MEP Richard Howitt has pledged his support to St Nicholas Hospice care after visiting the charity's base and volunteer centre.

The East of England Euro-MP dropped into the hospice before moving on to the volunteer centre above the shop in St John's Street, Bury St Edmunds, last Friday.

Mr Howitt was given a tour of the hospice by chief executive Barbara Gale. He discussed different aspects of hospice care and also got to meet Roy Salt, who is both a hospice patient and a volunteer.

At the volunteer centre he met enthusiastic members of the Hospice Neighbours team who shared their experiences of volunteering in the community.

About 500 volunteers from across West Suffolk and Thetford fulfil essential roles within the hospice, from working in the charity's shops to administration, gardening and complementary therapies.

Mr Howitt said: "I am going to do my best to try and support the hospice in any way I can in the future."

Prison staff walk out over pension cuts

OFFICERS at Highpoint prison near Haverhill walked out to protest changes to their pensions.

Steve Storey, branch secretary of the Prison Officers' Association (POA), said last Thursday: "We have between 70 and 80 officers staging a protest outside the prison, which is locked down – all the prisoners are locked in their cells."

"This is part of the national action that is going on in prisons around the country and we will be staying out as long as our national executive committee requests us to do so."

"This isn't a strike, it's a protest, and we're sorry that we have had to do this. But some of our officers stand to see the value of their pensions reduced by £16,000, and that just isn't acceptable."

Highpoint is a category C prison, housing prisoners who cannot be trusted in open conditions but who are unlikely to try to escape.

The POA is angry at Government plans to link the normal pension age to the state pension age.

Michael Spurr, chief executive National Offender Management Service, a Government agency which runs the probation and prison service, said: "I am extremely disappointed that the POA has taken this unlawful action. We have implemented our contingency plans, and our priority is to protect the public and ensure that prisons remain safe and secure."

"In 2007, the POA agreed that the normal pension age for new prison officers would be 65, in line with all other civil servants."

No one caught using hosepipe

JUST a "handful" of people have been reported for flouting the hosepipe ban hitting Haverhill – because of the wettest April on record.

Watering the garden, washing the car and filling up the pond with hosepipes were made illegal from April 5 when the ban came into force.

Hundreds of thousands of Anglian Water customers have been hit by the ban – but as yet no-one has been prosecuted.

People who flout the restriction could be fined up to £1,000 and among those affected are people living in the Haverhill, Huntingdon, Ely and Newmarket areas.

A spokesman for the water company said: "We have only had a handful of people reported for using a hosepipe since the rule came in."

"Because we've had so much rain people haven't really needed to use their hosepipes. The reports came in at the start of the ban when the weather was much better."

"We haven't investigated any of the reports so we don't know whether they had legal reasons to use a hosepipe. This had never been about prosecuting people anyway."

Drought status was lifted on May 11 for parts of East Anglia following the wettest April on record and continuing rain this month, the Environment Agency has said.

The status has been lifted for Cambridge Water but remains in place for the surrounding areas.

The ban also applies to public parks and allotments.

Jury is out on free school bid

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A HEADTEACHER has vowed to carry on campaigning for a special free school in Haverhill despite opposition from the local education authority.

Howard Lay, headteacher at Samuel Ward Academy, took his bid to the Department of Education where he had a "positive" meeting with Government officials.

Samuel Ward Academy Trust wants to build the school for up to 70 children – aged 8 to 18 – with special needs.

Mr Lay said: "There is a great need for a school like this and we had a very positive meeting and gave a 90-minute presentation at the Department of Education. It couldn't have gone better."

"The trouble is because we are a special free school and not a mainstream free school we need the support of the local authority, which we haven't got yet because they don't want to pay for another school."

"But momentum is building and we have had incredible support from parents and others because we do need this school."

"We now have to wait until the “ Whatever happens I will carry on with this because there are just not enough places for children with special needs in the area

early summer for the department's decision but whatever happens I will carry on with this because there are just not enough places for children with special needs in the area."

The presentation to civil servants took place in London last Thursday.

There is no special school in or near Haverhill, which means children must travel to either Sudbury or Bury St Edmunds to get to one.

The delegation attending the bid in London will include Mr Lay, Samuel Ward governor June McNaughton, someone with a special needs background, Georgina Ellis, headteacher at Wickhambrook Primary School and Madeleine Vigar, principal of the Castle Partnership.

The bid is also supported by West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock.

Mr Lay said the neighbouring county councils of Essex and Cambridgeshire may well back the bid if Suffolk County Council fails to support the school.

The two authorities may use their budgets to provide places at the school for children who would travel in to Haverhill from those counties.

The school would be called Churchill Special School and be based on the same site occupied by Samuel Ward Academy in Chalkstone Way.

Still time to sign up to take part in half-marathon event

MORE than 30 people have signed up to take part in a half-marathon to raise cash to fight kidney cancer.

Following the success of last year's 'Jog On to Kidney Cancer' the James Whale Fund for Kidney Cancer has announced the event will be running again on Sunday, May 27.

So far more than 30 people have signed up to run, walk or jog a half-marathon.

The picturesque 13-mile route crosses the Cambridgeshire/Suffolk borders and sets of from The White Horse pub in Withersfield, along 'Skippers Lane', turning right into West Watting and then on to Carlton, Great Thurlow and returning to The White Horse Pub.

Leela Huckstep, event organiser for the fund said: "Following on from the success last year we have decided to make Jog On an annual event.

"Last year we raised a total of £3,000 so this year we are keen to double that and look forward to seeing as many people as possible turn out to support this great cause."

Doug Bollen, owner of the White Horse Pub added: "Last year we all had a great day, the weather was good and the atmosphere brilliant."

"At the end we all congregated back at the pub for a barbecue in the garden. I am really looking forward to supporting and taking part in this year's event."

Registration is £15, which includes refreshments and a t-shirt. Register online at www.jameswhalefund.org.

Holocaust survivor's visit

A HOLOCAUST survivor spoke to Haverhill teenagers about the Nazi extermination camps.

Students in Year 9 at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College were "moved" by the talk from survivor Joanna Millan, based on her own experience as a young child and extensive research she has done as an adult.

The students were told about the experience Joanna had at the time and saw images of her family and some key artefacts of the time.

Students have been studying the Holocaust as part of their course and had spent some time thinking about what they might ask Joanna.

Jennifer Slack, team leader for history at the school, said: "Joanna coming to Castle Manor has been an amazing opportunity for our students."

Garage fire

A GARAGE blaze in Haverhill triggered numerous calls from worried families to the fire service.

Firefighters fought the flames at the building in Strawberry Fields at 7.27pm on Wednesday.

Two crews from the town brought the blaze under control after numerous 999 calls from residents.

Tributes to a woman 'devoted to others'

Beautiful smile:
Gillian Young died after a long battle against cancer.
CP

A KIND-HEARTED "first settler" in Haverhill with a "beautiful smile" has lost her 12-year battle with cancer.

Tributes have been paid to Gillian Young, of St Botolph's Way, who "devoted her life to the service of others".

The 71-year-old, who would have celebrated her birthday on Monday, was a founder member of the Haverhill & District Local History Group, and served it for 38 years right up to within two months of her death.

Dr Patrick Crouch, who worked with Mrs Young in the group, said: "Gill never got angry and had such a beautiful smile. She did so much for Haverhill and leaves a big gap. She will be sorely missed."

Dr Crouch said she arranged local history displays in Haverhill's library and encouraged schools to visit its archives.

He added: "Haverhill Arts Centre staff still remember the building seemingly full of children. One particular school, St Faith's, from Cambridge, came on numerous occasions and spent most of the day there, and she arranged for them to eat their lunch in the main hall.

"Children seemed to be of particular interest to her and she would be invited by schools to give the talks about how the town had changed over the years."

The grandmother also wrote articles for the Haverhill Historian on

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

various subjects including town expansion.

She and husband Barry had close knowledge of the topic, being one of the young couples who moved from London to Haverhill as part of the capital's overspill scheme, Dr Crouch said.

During the 1970s and 1980s Mrs Young was assistant secretary to the Haverhill Branch of the Royal British Legion and involved with the local detachment of the Army Cadet force, running the canteen and being treasurer.

In the last few years she was again helping out the legion and made pressed flower pictures to sell at local craft fairs.

Dr Crouch added: "She did all of this while also bringing up a family of two sons and a daughter, who in later years made her a proud grandmother and great-grandmother."

Mrs Young's first job in Haverhill was at Addis brush factory, from there she went to Eastern Electricity, which later became Powerhouse, and spent 13 years there before moving to Argos, retiring in 2003.

Dr Crouch said: "What shines out about Gill's life was her outstanding service to others. They will remember her sunny personality but above all the sheer hard work she willingly gave."

Gill died on Monday, April 30.

Rich and warming

Haverhill chef Hannah Jones shares recipes and highlights the very best of local produce. Hannah, who lives in Eastern Avenue with partner Matthew and young children Georgia and Jamie, is a former West Suffolk College student and chef at The Plough in Hundon and The Swan in Lavenham. She runs her own business making bespoke cakes and pastries, www.hannahsbuns.co.uk.

Prep:
Hannah Jones at work.

AS I am sure you have noticed, the weather has been pretty dull recently.

We had a few sunny days and then from then on it's been rain, rain and then more rain.

So I've come up with a delicious recipe to keep you warm while these wet and cold evenings continue. Last week I made a wonderful beef pot roast for my family.

The thing I love about this meal is its so easy but tastes amazing. The reason for the superb flavour is a few things – great ingredients and time.

I learned this from my head chef at the Plough in Hundon – you have to give food time.

There's no point throwing all the food in together giving it 10 minutes and serving because, the flavour hasn't even begun to release, especially with vegetables, as you need to let them sweat and circulate their natural sugar inside. And you get this stunning aroma when sweating onions off in a pan.

You need to buy good ingredients and I'm not saying you have to spend a fortune. The beef I used for this recipe cost me just over £5 for four people which is much more economical than chicken as I am using a cheaper cut of meat which is best used for slow-cooked meals.

I served my pot roast with creamy mashed potatoes but this dish would also go well with rice or crusty bread.

One thing you will need for this is a good pot that has a lid which will go in the oven.

If you don't have a lid use foil instead, but double wrap so you don't lose too much of your stock, as it does evaporate. You can always add a little more stock if you need to.

OK, so on with the recipe and I hope you enjoy the ease of making it – and the great flavour, too.

Ingredients

1.25kg rolled brisket
2 large onions cut into 8 chunks
6 carrots peeled and roughly chopped
4 Sticks of celery, roughly chopped
Half a swede, peeled and roughly chopped
Beef stock
1tbsp Worcestershire sauce
2 bay leaves
A few sprigs of thyme
1 tbsp flour
25g butter

Beef pot roast

Salt and pepper

Instructions

Heat the oven to 140C.

Put your pot on the hob on a high heat with a little oil.

Season the beef with salt and pepper. Then sear in the hot pan to brown the meat by turning the beef so each side has been browned.

Then transfer to a plate.

Add the chopped vegetables to the pan and brown them, too. It is important not to clean the pan after the meat has been in there because you want the vegetables to soak up the juices of the meat.

Place your beef in the middle of the vegetables in the pot and pour over your hot stock – enough to cover three quarters of the way up the beef.

Add your Worcestershire sauce, bay leaves and thyme.

Bring to the boil then place in the oven for about three hours.

Place the meat and vegetables on a warm plate put the pot back on the hob and bring to a boil.

Mix the flour with the butter and add to the pot whisk then let the stock reduce a little.

Carve your meat and plate up the vegetables, then pour over your homemade gravy.

Carl breaks down barriers

IRONICALLY the word 'midwife' has nothing to do with being female but is the Latin for 'with woman' – the person who helps a mother bring a baby into the world.

Carl Allen, who grew up in Birdbrook, understands that more than most.

The 28-year-old, who picked up silver for Outstanding Young Midwife at the Edith Cavell Trust Awards last month, is the only male midwife in his year at Anglia Ruskin University – but he won't be the last.

Carl, of Lower Cam-bourne, was selected for the honour for his hard work as part of his undergraduate degree as well as being part of the steering group for the Association of Radical Midwives, which aims to improve midwifery care for women in the NHS.

He grew up in Birdbrook and has delivered 33 babies. Carl told the Weekly News that he was "incredibly privileged" to be on the cusp of graduating as a preceptor midwife, the stage before full graduation, this August and that how to encourage more men to enter the traditionally female profession was "the million dollar question".

He said: "The question really should be, why wouldn't more men want to do this job? It is fantastic and I am proud to do it."

"There is no other job where you are the starting point in someone's story."

"You are the first person to ever touch that baby that is incredibly powerful and for women to let you in on such a private experience is an incredible privilege."

Far from the traditionally held view that women would be uncomfortable with a male midwife, Carl said that he has received an "incredibly positive reception" from women – as well as their partners – in the delivery room and believes that the profession should become "sexless".

He continued: "Ultimately it's about the woman giving birth and transition to parenthood, and not about us."

"Some women don't feel comfortable around men but many do and even respond better and because midwifery is so female-focused, having a man brings a different dynamic."

"I am really passionate about midwifery and giving women the best experience possible, and I think that shines through in my work."

He added: "I think men really appreciate having me there – many dads have said it was nice to have another man in the room."

Maxine Wallis-Redworth, pathway leader for midwifery at ARU, said: "We have seen him come into midwifery with passion and promoting positive experiences for both the woman and their partner and are very proud of

Experts come to club's rescue

A VILLAGE tennis club has received a helping hand from a specialist company to help secure its premises.

Stoke by Clare tennis club faced a challenge when they wanted a new lock to the doorframe of their courts.

Bradnam's in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, was the hopeful first stop for Bob Hossack of the Stoke Club. Although they could not do the job, they helpfully suggested Terra-Vac next door.

It turned out that Terra-vac are engineers who make suction cleaners and sweepers for equestrian centres, golf courses, and other ground maintenance facilities all over the world – more than 5,000 machines since 1982, all engineered, machined and made in Haverhill.

Now under the ownership of Colin

Debenham, they are a successful and growing company developing and expanding their product range into new sectors such as the recycling industry.

Out of generous public spirit, the company agreed to help out, not only by making a metal glove for the padlock, but also welding it securely to the door post. The Terra-Vac engineer duly arrived with his van and expertly did the job.

Bob Hossack said: "It is a reflection of the sort of companies that you get in Haverhill, good companies, with kind people. Stoke by Clare Tennis Club would like to thank Terra-Vac for their selfless act of generosity."

The club plays in the Norfolk and Suffolk first Division and for more information, visit www.sbctennisclub.org.uk.

Café performers who put the tea into art

IT'S not often that you walk into a café and are greeted by a waitress wearing a pineapple on her head. Or where your coffee cup proudly commemorates the birth of Prince William. Or where your salt and pepper pots are balanced on an upside-down Ken doll dressed in a fluffy green jacket and tiny gold stilettos.

Starbucks this ain't. Hunt & Darton is, in fact, a 'pop-up' café-come-art installation. Here for the month of May alone, its purpose is to represent everything about café culture – from the menu to the service – as an artwork.

It's the brainchild of performance artists Jenny Hunt and Holly Darton, both 31, who have prepared themselves for some difficult questions.

"Some people embrace it, some people challenge it. They say: 'Why is it art?' And we say: 'Because it is,'" says Jenny. "Why isn't it art?" adds Holly, with a grin.

From the outside, the Regent Street establishment certainly looks like an ordinary café. It's only when you wander in that your suspicions are aroused. Pineapple-hatted waitress aside, the furniture gives it away: think laminated tables and plastic canteen-style chairs. Unless 'house clearance chic' is in fashion, this is clearly a project-on-a-budget.

Yet each mug, rickety card table and dubious ornament has been lovingly handpicked by the girls (admittedly from car boot sales and charity shops) to suit the Hunt & Darton aesthetic.

Then there's the commissioned art: the Survival Shelf (33 books with the word 'survival' in their title), the carpet of hardback book covers on the floor, the fabulous gender-confused Ken dolls... Even the till is art, having been specially programmed so that each receipt carries a unique message (mine says

Is it a café – or is it art? EMMA HIGGINBOTHAM drops into 'interactive performance installation' Hunt & Darton in Cambridge to find out.

"there's something going on in your brain". Just as well, really).

Yet art aside, Hunt & Darton is a fully-functioning Cambridge café. "People can come and have a cup of tea and not notice anything," says Jenny. "Except for the pineapples on our head," adds Holly. "And that might be enough, which is really lovely: they've had a cup of tea, thought 'oh, that's interesting: both waitresses are wearing pineapples', and left, and that's the level that they engage with it. Or they might be served by one of our guest waiters..."

Ah yes, the guest waiters. Every day, Hunt & Darton features a different performance artist serving up the food and beverages.

These include a 'bronze service' waiter ("he's going to be catering quite averagely for the whole day"), a couples counsellor, a matchmaker, an all-in-one-Lycra-clad chap delivering Martini cocktails on rollerskates:

"And Bryony Kimmings is going to be doing a good old East End caff, and serving a lump of lard on the side of everyone's food," says Jenny. "But they're never going to be explicitly putting on a show. A 'micro performance' is the best way to explain it."

The idea for the installation cropped up two years ago when the pair decided to bid for a fairly large commission. "We thought 'what's the biggest idea we've ever had?' And that was to open a café, so we went for it," says Holly.

Thanks to a council arts scheme, they hired the space (an empty shop) for the princely sum of 1p, but everything else came at a cost: their funding only covered the second-hand trappings and enough food for the first week: "so we have to make a profit to continue providing all of our menu, otherwise we might just go down to coffee," says Holly.

"We might just go down

Earning a crust: inset, Hunt & Darton's signature dish – the roast dinner sandwich and other café paraphernalia.

What's on the menu

Things to look out for at Hunt & Darton:

■ Take a minute to admire your mug, as it will have been specially selected for you: "We have a think about it and it's what feels right," says Jenny. Look out for the privileged customer with the mug emblazoned with The Boss.

■ The laminated menu on your table isn't all that it seems. Look out for instructions on how to amuse yourself with your food (suggestions include The Great Blue-Riband Dunk-Off and the Wagon Wheel Flip).

■ Need to visit the unisex loo? Lucky you: reading material is provided, ranging from A History Of The Catholic Church Of All Saints, Wakefield to The Financial Times Guide to Investing.

■ You'll also be sharing your toilet cubicle with a collection of Ken dolls and Action Men in crinolines (my particular favourite is Rambo in a gold lamé dress brandishing a pink hairbrush). Not happy with the costume? Then customise your own: there's a box of tiny outfits in there too.

■ Jenny and Holly aren't just pineapple fans: over the coming weeks they'll be sporting watermelon, cherry and even broccoli dresses, kindly hand-stitched by Holly's mum, with real vegetation for their headgear.

■ Brace yourself for the themed days, which will include Christmas Day, complete with festive tree and carols, on May 23.

to water if we're not making any money! But there's a nice risk element to it, and we were really adamant that we wanted it to be a proper business, not a wacky arty thing." (Curious customers can check out their progress on the café's colossal blackboard: every penny is being recorded for all to see).

Like the furniture and crockery, the menu has a distinctly retro feel: "Our main inspiration is our 80s childhood, so we've got things we used to love: Capri-Sun, Wotsits, Battenberg, Tunnock's Teacakes, French Fancies and Blue Ribands," says Jenny.

Other foodie treats include the Roughage Plate (a daily salad), toast served with their own choice of spreads (think Sunpat and lemon curd), and look out for their trademark dining delight, the Roast Dinner Sandwich.

"We always have roast dinners together, because we often work together on Sundays," explains Holly. "And we liked the idea of it smelling like Sunday every day," adds Jenny. Yet their initial plan, to serve Sunday roasts daily, proved impractical: "so we stripped that back and said 'Roast Dinner Sandwich!'" They bring one out to show me: it is, indeed, magnificent.

Originally from Little Shelford, Jenny met Holly, from Sandon, near Royston, a decade ago when they were studying fine art at St Martin's in London.

"Then five years ago we were having a conversation about embarrassment, and we decided to make our first performance together," recalls Holly. "Basically we shared embarrassing stories, wrote a list and made a poem."

Jenny recited the verses – about embarrassments ranging from nipple hair issues to drunkenly falling off a chair – while Holly acted out the moves and, performed at art shows and pub nights, it was very well-received ("when you get up on stage and do something ridiculous, it often goes down well," shrugs Jenny). They've been performing together ever since.

Both girls also have day jobs, from which they've been given a month off to run the café. Conveniently, Jenny is a former catering manager who heads the events team for a cooking company (Holly, meanwhile, manages an art space in London). And other than one disagreement – about canapés – they're getting on swimmingly.

But after all their hard work, isn't it disappointing that Hunt & Darton will be closing at the end of the month? "We're taking it to the Edinburgh Fringe next, so it has a life, and we don't ever want it to stop, really," says Jenny. "We want to keep going, whether it becomes a permanent manifestation or we keep popping up. We've got quite a few festivals booked, too, where we're taking over their bars, so it's definitely carrying on."

So is it really art? Can't you equally say that a Costa Coffee is art? It's not the same thing, insists Jenny.

"It's art because the infrastructure is made by artists," she says. "For me something becomes art when it's a comment upon it, and I feel we're very much commenting upon – and celebrating – café culture. We've made all the decisions: we even select each cup for our customers."

"The table layout took three days, because we're artists, and that's what artists do – they talk overly about everything!" adds Holly. "So everything's very considered and fits with our aesthetic. And as artists, having made all those decisions, for us it's obvious that the whole thing's art."

Hunt & Darton is, they agree, better than they were hoping for: "It's blown our mind, actually," smiles Holly.

"We've had such a positive response, and that's what we wanted," agrees Jenny, "and we're so happy to be here until the end of May. How many other experiences are we going to have?"

And with that she stands up, adjusts her pineapple, and goes to greet a slightly bemused customer who's just wandered in.

■ Hunt & Darton is at 100 Regent Street, Cambridge, and is open from Wednesday to Sunday, 10am to 6pm, until May 27.

■ Hunt & Darton is funded by Live Art Collective East (Lace), and is one of eight commissions in unusual spaces presented as part of the Cultural Olympiad. See www.liveartcollectiveeast.com for full details.

Chorister's death accidental

THE death of a young chorister found with a belt tied around his neck was a tragic accident, an inquest heard.

Edward Morgan-Gooch, from Wickhambrook near Haverhill, had been tucked up in bed as usual by his mother, Julia Gooch, on the night of his death, the hearing in Bury St Edmunds was told last Thursday.

But just 40 minutes later when Ms Gooch went to turn off her 12-year-old son's bedside light, she found him sitting on the floor with a belt tied tightly around his neck.

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Coroner Dr Peter Dean said she had struggled to remove the ligature and Edward's father, Recorder Christopher Morgan, succeeded and battled to resuscitate him.

Paramedics arrived and fought to save Edward, a chorister at St Edmundsbury Cathedral, but he was pronounced dead at 11.05pm on November 2 at West Suffolk Hospital.

Dr Dean said it was possible Edward had tied the belt around his neck to improve his singing or his ability to hold his breath, as Dr Peter Powell of Suffolk's Safeguarding Children Team, had speculated in a report.

The inquest heard Edward had been happy, motivated and enthusiastic, with a stable and supportive home and school life and it was not believed he had meant to hurt himself.

Dr Dean said: "There's no suggestion that he had any unhappiness or intent to harm himself in any way.

"The situation in which he was found was a seated one, it's not correct to say he was hanging."

The inquest heard Edward, a student at St James Middle School in Bury St Edmunds, had prepared his schoolbag for the following day before going to bed.

Dr Dean said: "I would emphasise there is no evidence that Edward was anything but a much loved, very happy and enthusiastic young lad who was clearly very motivated by and very much enjoyed his time as a chorister, and was thinking actively of the future and anticipating and keenly planning it."

He said the primary cause of his death was ligature compression of the neck and recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Dr Dean said: "What this tragic death emphasises is the extreme risk of any sort of experimentation that involves pressure on the neck."

Top award for village stage stars

MEMBERS of a village drama group are celebrating winning a regional award.

Ketton Players recently attended the NODA (The National Operatic and Dramatic Association) Eastern Region Gala Awards Ceremony at the Radisson Blu hotel at Stansted Airport, where they won the Best Play award for their production of The Railway Children last year. The play had previously been performed by the group in 1999, both at Kedington Community Centre and at the Quay Theatre in Sudbury, and they also received a NODA award for that production.

In 2009, Ketton Players also won the NODA Eastern Region District 7 Award for Best Pantomime for its production of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. All three productions were directed by Sue Brown, who was unable to be at the awards ceremony as she was on holiday. She will also be directing this year's pantomime, Sleeping Beauty, by Ben Crocker, which will take place at the Community Centre in December.

Facebook, the social networking service and website launched in February 2004. As of July 2011, Facebook has more than 750 million active users. Users may create a personal profile, add other users as friends, and exchange messages, including automatic notifications when they update their profile. Facebook users must register before using the site. Additionally, users may join common-interest user groups, organized by workplace, school or college, or other characteristics. Facebook was founded by Mark Zuckerberg with his college roommates and fellow computer science students Eduardo Saverin, Dustin Moskovitz and Chris Hughes. A January 2009 Compete.com study ranked Facebook as the most used social networking service by worldwide monthly active users, followed by MySpace.

In recent years more and more people have used the social networking site as a platform to promote their businesses through "Pages" and "Groups". Business owners are now using "updates" to keep their members informed of the latest information about their business. Below are nine local businesses doing just this – "like" or "join" their pages to be kept up to date with the latest products, services and promotions on offer.

Once more unto the breach

SHAKESPEARE'S Globe returns to Cambridge Arts Theatre with their powerful production of Henry V, Shakespeare's famous history play of romance and war.

Henry V marks the third year of collaboration between Shakespeare's Globe and Cambridge Arts Theatre following successful runs of The Comedy of Errors, A Midsummer Night's Dream and Hamlet. Their recent tour of Anne Boleyn with English Touring Theatre at the Arts Theatre also played to sell-out audiences and won great critical acclaim.

Henry V sees us return to the story of Prince Hal, now grown, and finding himself leader of a country in turmoil. King Henry IV has died and his son, Henry V, must take the throne. In a turbulent time of war and civil unrest, the adolescent king must summon the courage to recapture France. With challenges from a host of vivid characters from his wayward past and disloyal soldiers, this masterpiece shows the real horror of war.

Henry V also celebrates the power of language, bringing to life courts, pubs, ships and battlefields alike. Henry V has a strong connection with the Globe, having opened there first in 1599 and the reconstruction in 1997 with the immortal words: "O for a muse of fire."

Jamie Parker (Scripps in The History Boys, As You Like It) returns in the title role, having performed as the young king in both 2010 productions.

Writers face a test of character

WRITEON's annual season of Monologues and Duologues is a great opportunity to experience fresh ideas from new and emerging writers, brought to life on stage in Cambridge for the first time. The challenge to the writers is to create a script for one or two actors featuring some sort of transformation in the character(s) and/or their situation through the unfolding of events.

The pieces selected by the reading panel are simply but imaginatively staged, script in hand, by our enthusiastic team of actors and directors, in the intimate setting of the ADC Bar. There is a different programme on each of the five Sunday evenings, typically comprising six to eight short pieces. The audience is invited to discuss how well they feel each writer has met the challenge.

■ Monologues and Duologues Festival, May 20 until Sunday June 17, ADC Bar, £6/£5. Go to adctheatre.com.

Classic opera returns

ENGLISH Touring Opera makes a welcome return to Cambridge Arts Theatre, providing the chance to see both Tchaikovsky's Eugene Onegin and Rossini's The Barber of Seville.

Returning with one of the most popular operas in their repertoire, the comic masterpiece, The Barber of Seville, is showing on May 22, 25 and 27.

It tells the story of Rosina and Count Almaviva, a pair of young lovers who, with the help of Figaro, outwit Rosina's guardian – Doctor Bartolo. Thomas Guthrie directs Rossini's razor-sharp and fiery opera alongside world renowned conductor Paul McGrath. Nicholas Sharratt will sing the part of the roguish Count Almaviva. His beloved but cunning Rosina will be sung by Kitty Whately, winner of the 2011 Kathleen Ferrier Award.

Then on May 23 and 26, don't miss Tchaikovsky's romantic and tender Eugene Onegin. This classic opera explores the excitement of first love, lost love, jealousy and regret with gusto. Receiving critical acclaim and selling out at the Arts in 2007, Eugene Onegin features ETO's signature grand ballroom scenes and a dramatic duel to the death. Brought to life by emerging stars Sarah-Jane Davies, Nicholas Lester, Jaewoo Kim and Niamh Kelly, Eugene Onegin is a night at the opera for romantics of all ages.

Under James Conway's leadership, who is celebrating his 10-year anniversary with the company, ETO has furthered its reputation for producing high-quality opera across the country. Over the past decade, Conway has directed 24 productions, many of which have been toured to Cambridge, including critically-acclaimed interpretations of works by Janáček, Tchaikovsky and Repertoire: The English Touring Opera heads for Cambridge later this month with performances of Eugene Onegin and The Barber of Seville.

Britten. His production of A Midsummer Night's Dream (performed by ETO in 2004, and revived in 2010) was nominated for an RPS award and he continues to deliver accessible operatic favourites.

■ English Touring Opera, Cambridge Arts Theatre, May 22 to 25 at 7.30pm. Tickets from £15 on (01223) 503333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com.

Artists show influences

FIVE local artists are exhibiting at Michaelhouse, Trinity Street, Cambridge. The exhibition, which runs until Saturday, from 8am to 5pm, showcases a range of work, from still, Cambridge scenes to quirky cows.

Maureen Mace's paintings of college buildings seem slightly ethereal. The wide open spaces, great architecture and resident cows of Cambridge provide her with endless inspiration.

Neil Warnsley reflects the stillness of Cambridge in his paintings. His colours are subdued with a palette of subtle greens and browns which transform the landscape into a calm haven. Meanwhile Alison Litherland's cows, as pictured above, don't have a conventional background of green fields and trees, but are surrounded by (and seem somewhat puzzled by) bold, loosely painted colour.

Up for a laugh

GAGGING Order, Jimmy Carr's latest stand-up show, reaches Cambridge Corn Exchange on Saturday, promising new jokes – some rude, some clever – as told by the same old Jimmy. Leave your conscience, moral compass and sense of common decency at the door and prepare to be entertained by one of Britain's most successful comics. He's sold more than a million DVDs and sold out countless tours – including this one. But we're sure he'll be back again pretty soon.

Canadian comedy comes to the city

FOLLOWING stellar performances on BBC 1's Live At The Apollo and Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow, as well as Channel 4's Stand-Up For The Week, talented Canadian émigré Tom Stade visits Cambridge on an extended leg of his nationwide tour. Described as 'gloriously funny, silly and smart' and 'so cool he could well be the answer to global warming' (The Scotsman), his magnetic stage presence, irrepressible charm and first-class storytelling have established him as one of the finest stand-ups around. His recent show, What Year Was That? received excellent reviews at the Edinburgh Festival, and his latest offering takes a look at the links between Primark and meat van men, with a little help from his sidekick, Jimmy. Immerse yourself in his inimitable, offbeat world for a night of anecdotes and observations from this rising star for whom big things are predicted.

The big film

THE DICTATOR

Certificate 15, 1h24m

SACHA Baron Cohen atones for the sins of the woeful Bruno with this bad-taste comedy which kicks sand in the eye of political correctness.

No subject is off limits – the September 11 attacks, rape, sexual equality, Judaism – as the film tramples merrily over social taboos as the titular despot runs amok in New York City.

Baron Cohen is once again at the centre of the madness, this time relying on a script rather than inspired improvisation with the unsuspecting public.

He plays Admiral General Aladeen, tyrannical ruler of the African state of Wadiya, who is hiding the real Bin Laden in one of his opulent palace's spare rooms.

During a visit to "the Devil's nest" of America to address the United Nations about his nuclear arsenal, Aladeen is usurped by his duplicitous brother Tarnir (Sir Ben Kingsley) and cast adrift on the street, without his trademark beard or any form of identification.

Zoe (Anna Faris), the tomboyish manager of a vegan feminist non-profit co-operative, takes pity on Aladeen, accepting him as an immigrant called Allison Burgers.

Sparks of romance are continually extinguished by Aladeen's bigotry. And when Zoe eventually discovers the truth about his identity, she is horrified.

The Dictator delights and disturbs, careening from razor sharp satire to the Monty Python-esque.

It's hard to resist a wry smile when Baron Cohen's abominable protagonist makes a speech to American dignitaries and exposes the Land Of The Free as a dictatorship in all but name.

If you judge the film solely on the number of belly laughs it packs into 83 minutes and ignore the occasional lulls, it's a rousing success.

Some gags are so jaw-droppingly offensive you can feel the oxygen being sucked out of the cinema. Faint hearts beware.

Chelsea's year-round interest

VISITORS to this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show will no doubt see spring flowers in bloom long after their natural flowering period, while late summer perennials and other flowering plants will be brought forward in artificial conditions to ensure they are flowering for the event.

But Arne Maynard, garden designer of the Laurent-Perrier Bicentenary Garden at this year's show, says his aim is to create a usable gardeners' garden that works through all seasons.

It's his second garden for Chelsea – the first won Best in Show in 2000 in collaboration with Piet Oudolf. Maynard said: "The garden is designed to be an inspirational yet achievable realisation of enduring elegance – something that can be grown and enjoyed in a real situation. It will bear fruit and provide flowers throughout the year, with each element having its time to shine."

Low-level topiary and pleached copper beech trees provide structure and beautiful colour all year round, as the copper beech leaves turn a stunning golden colour over winter.

Topiary box act as 'sentinels' or markers in the garden, drawing the eye to particular points of interest, while a specimen pear tree creates grandeur and will bear fruit in autumn.

Rich, deep burgundy, soft pinks and pale lilacs make up the colour scheme and plants which add a romantic veil during the summer months include roses, poppies (Papaver somniferum 'Double Black' and P. 'Double Lilac' are particular gems), as well as salvias, geraniums and dianthus.

"Creating a garden with year-round interest, for most gardeners, is a gradual process," he says.

"It takes time to gather plants that work well in the different aspects of a garden and to work out successful plant combinations.

"There are no rules governing how you create year-round effect, but there are a few things you can do to ensure your garden is constantly evolving."

He offers the following tips to create a garden with year-round interest:

■ Understand your garden. Look at its aspect, soil type and consider the effect you are hoping to create. Your choice, whether it be a neat, clipped look, or a billowy, natural feel, will affect your choice of plants.

■ Visit a local nursery or garden centre every month for ideas. Look for colours that will suit a particular area of your garden and include flowers and foliage. Look for unusual textures and differing heights. Check the labels to see what height and breadth the plant is likely to reach in maturity as this will determine where you place it in the bed.

■ Look for plants that seem to thrive in neighbours' gardens and for those that appear naturalised in hedgerows or fields. These are the building blocks for your planting scheme and are sure to do well in your soil.

■ Don't be afraid of trees. Even in small gardens, a well-placed tree can set everything else off. "I think all gardens should have at least one fruit tree, which can be trained or pruned to keep the shape neat," Maynard says. He loves using topiary in his designs and stresses that a well-chosen tree can add either a contemporary feel or bring a touch of tradition to a garden.

■ Try to keep your planting scheme tight. Either choose a colour scheme or a limited palette of plants, to ensure your garden feels like one whole space rather than a series of separate spaces. Repeat a few plants throughout the scheme to give the garden an elegant simplicity.

Your Homesnow Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Homesnow team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

www.homesnow.co.uk

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

2 1 WEEK TO GO:

- Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!
- Notify:
- ☐ Employer
  - ☐ Inland revenue
  - ☐ Local council
  - ☐ Banks or Building Societies
  - ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
  - ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards

  - ☐ Land / mobile phones
  - ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers
  - ☐ Doctor, Dentist and Opticians
  - ☐ DVLA
  - ☐ Veterinary surgery
  - ☐ TV Licensing
- Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

3 2-1 DAYS TO GO:

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.
- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.
- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day
- ☐ Packing – pack a bag for overnight essentials and toiletries and finish all remaining packing into boxes. Remember to label which room each box is destined for.
- ☐ Snack box – pack a box for the kitchen to include essentials like tea, coffee and sugar, as well as the kettle and mugs! Also include other snacks as necessary.
- ☐ Dismantle and disconnect – take down curtains, fixtures and fittings and disconnect white goods ready for transport.
- ☐ Outdoor items – make sure that these are stacked together and ready to be moved.
- ☐ Mobile – place your mobile on charge the night before moving and ensure that all relevant people have your number.

4 ON MOVING DAY:

- AT YOUR OLD ADDRESS:
- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
  - ☐ Finish packing toiletries box.
  - ☐ Direct removal firm personnel or friends helping you move as to what needs to be done.
  - ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
  - ☐ Disconnect cooker.
  - ☐ Turn off boiler / central heating.
  - ☐ Turn off water.
  - ☐ Read gas meter.
  - ☐ Read electricity meter.
  - ☐ Secure all windows.
  - ☐ Lock all doors.
  - ☐ Make final checks and leave key as arranged with new owners.
- AT YOUR NEW HOME:
- ☐ Open up & have a look around the new house.
  - ☐ Locate fuse box, gas and electric meter and stop cock for reference.
  - ☐ Take readings on gas, electric and water meters as appropriate.
  - ☐ Organise the direction of boxes to appropriate rooms.
  - ☐ Check the van after all is unloaded.
  - ☐ Make the beds up for the evening.
  - ☐ Sit down and relax – unpack the other boxes the next day.

Detached family home stands in a popular spot

THIS detached family home stands in Gainsborough Road, Haverhill, on the popular Cambridge side of town.

Inside, the modern property provides a cloakroom, living room, dining room, kitchen, utility room, conservatory, three bedrooms and a bathroom. There is a driveway leading to a single garage, plus a lawned garden to the back.

It is on the market for £197,950. Contact Samuels Independent Estate Agents on (01440) 708100.

Smart downsizing means doing what's best for you

By Philip Macdonald of Abbotts Countrywide

One of the reasons we have insufficient family housing in this country is because so many large properties are occupied by just one or two people, whose children have left home.

Breaking that link with a much loved property, which may be too big to manage, and costly to heat, can be too much of a wrench. Parents want to ensure that their family can stay when they visit (even if infrequently) so they struggle on, often only using a couple of rooms.

Over the last 15 years or so, fewer new homes were built than in the 1920s and this led to demands for higher density.

While flats can be convenient for retired people who want to go off on their travels or to a foreign hideaway, they can lead to isolation for those on their own who are used to outside space and chatting over the garden fence. Equally, three-storey townhouses are far from ideal as one ages.

So, finding the right property when wanting to downsize can be difficult. Bungalows rarely become available and are snapped up quickly.

Never overlook the potential to create a new building plot alongside your existing property; if you have a large garden with good access, it's worth talking to the local planning authority about the prospects for creating your own retirement home, designed to your own specifications. When finished, you can sell the main house, but be happily domiciled in the same location.

If that's not possible, however, when you make the decision to move, a good agent will quickly focus on exactly what you want, where, and give you a call as soon as he or she spots it. They can run a 'wanted' campaign for you, talk to developers about their plans and alert you to something suitable so you can secure it ahead of completion, and they can dispose of your existing property to suit your desired timescale.

We all know the mantra, location, location, location... but we can't all afford the best locations. Maximising your budget's buying power means balancing wants and needs and making sacrifices on either space or commuting time.

As flats in London and some of the larger cities around the country are being snapped up after languishing unloved and unwanted for a couple of years, they remain less desirable in other areas.

So, perhaps now is the time to grab one before prices catch up with demand?

For singles, and busy working couples, this could be the 'best buy', convenient for transport and socialising. If a move is planned in a couple of years, perhaps it could provide a rental income, rather than selling.

Motorists identify in-car gadgets they love the most

THIS year's Auto Express Product Awards has revealed the gadget most British drivers couldn't live without – their sat-navs.

Over a quarter of the votes cast for the Readers' Award on autoexpress.co.uk named the GPS system as their must-have in-car gadget, beating even air-con and in-car audio systems.

Auto Express judges gave their top award for Product of the Year to digital radio specialist Pure for its revolutionary Highway 300Di – a clever new gadget that can add DAB and iPod connectivity to any in-car stereo.

Other winners included Essex-based Bilt-Hamber which won three awards for its cleaning products, TomTom for best smartphone app, Turtle Wax for best wax, Goodyear for best summer tyre and Continental for best

The all-new Porsche Boxster is now on sale

THE new Boxster is now on sale in Porsche Centres in the UK, offering open-top driving enthusiasts a new generation of the benchmark roadster.

With an all-new lightweight body, new engines, a completely revised chassis and evolutionary styling, the new Boxster is in good shape for the summer.

Up to 35kg lower weight, a 60mm longer wheelbase, widened track on the front and rear axles, and larger wheels and tyres mean the new Boxster S can lap the Nürburgring-Nordschleife in 7:58 minutes, 12 seconds faster than its predecessor.

It also delivers up to 15 per cent greater fuel efficiency.

The Porsche Boxster is powered by a choice of charismatic flat-six engines with direct petrol injection. The mid-mounted power unit delivers 265bhp (195 kW) from a 2.7-litre displacement – 10bhp more than its larger capacity 2.9-litre predecessor.

The 3.4-litre delivers 315bhp (232 kW), 5bhp more than before. Both models feature a manual six-speed gearbox as standard, with the seven-speed dual-clutch Porsche Doppelkupplungsgetriebe (PDK) available as an option.

When fitted with the PDK transmission and Sport Chrono Package option, the 2.7-litre Boxster sprints from 0- 62mph in 5.5 sec, the Boxster S in just 4.8 seconds.

Combined fuel consumption for the Boxster with PDK is 36.7mpg, and emissions of 180g/km CO2 places the model in Band I for Vehicle Excise Duty purposes. The Boxster S with PDK returns 35.3mpg Combined (188g/km CO2).

Advanced: The BMW 6 Series Gran Coupe is in a new segment for the powerhouse German marque.

6 Series Gran Coupe debuts

ONCE again BMW is advancing into a new vehicle segment with the introduction of the BMW 6 Series Gran Coupe.

Following the convertible and the Coupe in the BMW 6 Series, this new exclusive model is "the true embodiment of aesthetics, sportiness, comfort and luxury". The BMW 6 Series Gran Coupe is distinguished by "exclusive features and equipment, roominess for rear passenger comfort and remarkable advanced functionality unusual even for an upscale, four-door Coupe". For example, folding rear seatbacks and an auxiliary third seat (4+1 seating) contribute significantly to the car's versatility.

Driving dynamics, smooth performance and efficiency are the hallmarks of the TwinPower Turbo engines available for the BMW 6 Series Gran Coupe. Furthermore, the BMW 650i Gran Coupe will be the first model offered with a new and more efficient V8 engine that delivers an impressive 330 kW/450bhp.

The straight 6-cylinder petrol engine in the BMW 640i Gran Coupe delivers 235 kW/320bhp, and the straight 6-cylinder diesel in the BMW 640d Gran Coupe has a performance rating of 230 kW/313bhp. In the third quarter of 2012, a third engine will be added to the series, namely the V8 petrol engine in the BMW 650i Gran Coupe with 330 kW/450bhp, also available with BMW xDrive four-wheel drive technology. The new-generation BMW V8 engine features TwinPower Turbo technology using two turbochargers, plus direct High-Precision Injection and the fully variable Valvetronic valve control system.

Details from Elms Cambridge on 0844 326 7249.

How Astra VXR gets its kick

VAUXHALL'S new Astra VXR will incorporate motorsport know-how in its transmission and deliver a class-leading 400Nm of torque, giving it a 0-60mph time of 5.9 seconds and robust mid-range performance when it arrives in the UK this July.

The VXR's turbocharged, 2.0-litre direct-injection engine harks from the Insignia family, but while its aluminium block is similar, the VXR has a unique aluminium cylinder head and new turbocharger to liberate 274bhp and more than 200Nm per litre of torque – the highest specific output in its class.

And with a mechanical limited slip differential delivering drive to the front wheels, bespoke Brembo brakes, and dampers developed by performance manufacturer, ZF Sachs, the Astra VXR is also set to raise the bar for in-class dynamics.

Developing a high-torque engine for the Astra VXR was the key to unlocking the car's real-world, mid-range performance, rather than focusing on power alone. And with maximum torque produced on a broad plateau between 2,450rpm and 5,000rpm, VXR drivers will never want for instant acceleration.

An all-new intake system was developed to feed as much air into the turbocharger as possible. The turbocharger itself was also improved to take more charge-air pressure, which builds from as early as 1,400rpm for linear and strong acceleration. The maximum charge pressure is now 1.5 bar – 25 per cent more than in the Insignia 2.0T.

Astra VXR drivers can also look forward to a soundtrack that has been carefully engineered to appeal to enthusiasts, both from inside and outside the car. A 'jet-like' noise in the mid- to high-end rev-range is likely to be a memorable feature, especially when drivers change up from third to fourth under full throttle.

But outright performance hasn't come at the expense of efficiency and durability. While the Astra VXR can accelerate from 0-60mph in 5.9 seconds and hit a maximum 155mph, standard Start/Stop technology has reduced fuel consumption by 14 per cent (compared with the previous model) to a combined 34.9mpg, and reduced emissions to 189g/km.

Call Murkett's Vauxhall on (01223) 716600 for details.

Turbocharged: Vauxhall's new Astra VXR is due in July.

Children in Need call answered: Gary Barlow in the Bentley Continental GTC at Crewe.

Keys to charity GTC – and Gary Barlow is bonus

BENTLEY MOTORS' factory in Crewe this week provided the setting for the handover of a very special Continental GTC.

The Bentley was the star of the show at a fundraising auction for BBC Children in Need last November when Brendan and Barbara Ainscough bid an incredible £240,000 for the convertible after Gary upped the stakes by promising to hand over the car in person.

The opportunity for a personal handover was an offer Mr and Mrs Ainscough couldn't refuse and Gary honoured his commitment by meeting the Ainscoughs at Bentley's factory in Crewe yesterday afternoon to hand over the keys.

Congratulating Mr and Mrs Ainscough on their winning bid, Gary Barlow said: "I'm delighted to present Mr and Mrs Ainscough with the keys to their new GTC. Their donation will make a real difference to some of the UK's most disadvantaged children being supported by BBC Children in Need."

Honda announces traffic technology to beat jams

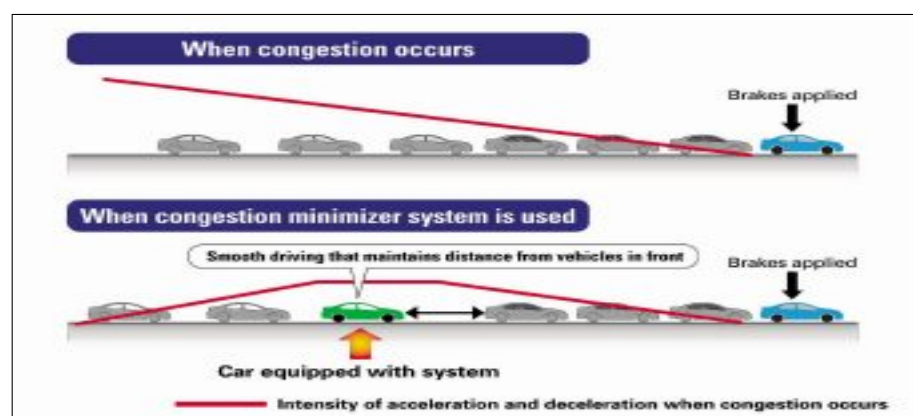

HONDA has announced the successful development of the world's first technology to detect the potential for traffic congestion and determine whether the driving pattern of the vehicle is likely to create traffic jams.

Honda developed this technology while recognising that the acceleration and deceleration behaviour of one vehicle influences the traffic pattern of trailing vehicles and can trigger congestion.

In conjunction with the Research Centre for Advanced Science and Technology at the University of Tokyo, Honda conducted experimental testing of a system utilising the technology to detect the potential for traffic congestion.

The test results demonstrated that the system helped increase the average speed by approximately 23 per cent and improved trailing vehicles fuel efficiency by approximately eight per cent.

With the goal to bring this technology to market, Honda is beginning the first public-road testing of the technology in Italy (now) and Indonesia (in July) of this year, to verify the effectiveness of the technology in minimising vehicle congestion.

Honda's data: Detects potential for traffic congestion.

Rather than providing information to help the driver avoid existing congestion based on current traffic information, the system monitors the acceleration and deceleration patterns of the vehicle to determine whether the driver's driving pattern is likely to create traffic congestion.

Based on this determination, the system provides the driver with information, including a colour-coded display through the onboard terminal, to encourage smooth driving which will help alleviate the intensity of acceleration and deceleration by trailing vehicles, thereby helping to prevent or minimise the occurrence of vehicle congestion.

The positive effect on minimising congestion and fuel efficiency improvement can be further increased by connecting the on-board terminals to cloud servers to make the driver aware of and in sync with the driving patterns of vehicles ahead by activating the ACC (Adaptive Cruise Control) system at the right time to maintain a constant distance between vehicles at the most appropriate interval.

Traffic congestion causes not only a delay in arrival time but also an increase in CO2 emissions and a higher potential for rear-end collisions. Honda says it is working for "a congestion-free mobility society all around the world".

General Vacancies

Unlock Your Potential

Care UK is a leading independent provider of health and social care that operates GP practices, NHS walk-in centres and excellent primary care services in 17 prisons across England. We are currently looking to recruit a Senior Substance Misuse Nurse and a Registered General Nurse for our outstanding healthcare department within HMP Highpoint Prison.

Though you may not have considered work in offender health before, it can be an incredibly rewarding career path. You'll be part of a supportive team of healthcare and prison staff, contributing to the rehabilitation and resettlement of this client group. Patients in a custodial setting constitute a unique client group requiring specialist nursing services. Some of the challenges involve addressing complex needs including drug withdrawal, and identifying, assessing and planning care pathways for acute and long term disease management. Our nurses contribute to a service that aims to be a model of good practice delivering the range and quality of healthcare equivalent to community services and you could help exemplify this.

Senior Substance Misuse Nurse

£25,472 - £34,189 pa • Full-time • HMP Highpoint, Newmarket

This role is part of the IDTS team, a secondary treatment service treating prisoners with complex drug related needs. You will manage a caseload of service users with drug and/or alcohol and healthcare needs, work in the assessment and care management of maintenance or detoxification programmes, and provide care for those whose needs cannot be met by the Primary Care Service. You will have some experience within a Mental Health Trust, prison setting, or Substance Misuse Service.

Registered General Nurse

£24,000 - £29,000 pa • Full-time • HMP Highpoint, Newmarket

Working as part of the multi professional team, you will assist in the nursing care of patients within the HMP Highpoint Healthcare department. You will be required to work autonomously within your sphere of competency whilst being a support and resource to less experienced members of staff. With adept clinical decision-making and critical thinking skills, you will assess patients, carry out relevant tests and arrange efficient follow-ups. You will also be experienced in working in Primary Care Environments, General Practice or in Acute Specialities.

We offer professional training and the chance to work in a personally rewarding environment. If you are non-judgmental and mature in outlook, and would like more information or to apply, please go to www.careuk.com/careers

Closing date: 31 May 2012.

'Disgraceful' fumes Pilgrim after Wratting fall in final

WEST Wratting's joint-boss Brian Pilgrim was less than impressed after watching the side lose 2-1 to Lakenheath in the final of the Snailwell Cup.

Pilgrim said: "We never turned up. I was disappointed with the turn-out because I struggled to get 13 players, which is disgraceful for a final.

"They just dominated the second half and we just weren't our usual selves."

Danny Hills gave Wratting the lead after 20 minutes of the clash against the side that won the Kershaw Premier Cup the previous week. But 10 minutes later Luke Butcher thundered an equaliser from 25 yards and Shaun Avis headed the winner midway through the second half. Lakenheath player-manager Colin Vowden said: "We played much better than in the other final and it could have been more than 2-1. "They didn't play much at all, but the main thing is we won and it's another bit of silverware."

High fives for Ellis in narrow win

GARY Ellis beat Richie Turner in the battle of the five-wicket-takers as Horseheath secured a narrow victory over Thriplow in Division One of the Mr Cricket CCA Senior League.

Turner was the first to get in on the action, his figures of 5 for 38 from 11 overs helping to remove Horseheath for 126.

Andrew Morris backed him up with 4 for 23 and there was also a wicket for Andrew Woolley, while Dan Goldsmith and David Brown, who made 36 and 21 respectively, were the pick of the batsmen.

Ellis then helped himself to 5 for 34 as Thriplow were removed for 121 in the 34th over, six runs short of their victory target.

Ben Piper (4 for 38) got rid of the last three batsmen, all for ducks, with Tom Staley's 34 and Kevin Scully's unbeaten 24 the batting highlights.

■ Bill O'Reilly's century gave

Hardwick & Caldecote their first win in the Tucker Gardner League as the newcomers romped to a 156-run win in Division Two against Weston Colville.

Hardwick made light work of the visitors' attack as opener O'Reilly, whose 115-ball knock included 13 fours and six sixes, piled on the runs from the start.

O'Reilly received good support from his skipper Anil Waduge, who fell for 59 when the total was nearing 200.

John Allen and Nuwan Athukorala (30 not out) kept the score ticking over as Hardwick posted 288 for 5.

Weston Colville's reply got off to a bad start with the loss of Andy Brightmore for a duck.

Trevor Westley (26) and Adam Taylor (59) provided some resistance but Hardwick were not to be denied and Weston Colville were skittled for 132.

Free's a jolly good fellow . . .

West Wrating 7 Sawston 1 Cambridge and District Colts League, under-16A

WEST Wrating chose the last game to produce their best performance of the season.

They were dominant from the first whistle and signalled their intent with Josh Free scoring twice in the first three minutes.

Both goals were set up by Jack Whiting and the roles were reversed for the third goal after five minutes. Midway through the half, Tom Pinker headed a fourth and then added a fifth with a spectacular long-range free-kick.

Whiting made it six before the break - again with a major contribution from man-of-the-match Free - and although Sawston pulled a goal back, the final word went to Free, who completed his hat-trick by tucking away Tom Warnock's pass.

A Classic win for Nichols, Borowy

STEVE Nicholls and Paul Borowy won the Linton Enterprise Classic, the event which does so much to raise money to fund improvements to the Haverhill club.

A strong field of 126 players from all sections of the club teed off in the pairs stableford better ball competition, with £1,885.00 raised, taking the total raised to £15,648.00 since the fund was started.

This year the Linton Enterprise will finance the installation of a new bridge on the 18th hole.

Organiser Terry Bishop thanked the 24 event sponsors, who have contributed to the fund over the years.

Nichols and Borowy recorded 45 points, and shared £300 of vouchers. Peter Driscoll and Kelvin Ellam, who shared £160 of vouchers, were second with 43pts, with Gavin Taylor and Darren Lyons third and Paul Bartlett and Frank Gooch fourth.

There were also prize vouchers of £40 each for the best front nine – won by Charlie Hudson and Peter Bowers with 24pts – and for the best back nine won by head greenkeeper Glenn Norris and Ryan Greenwood (21pts). Karen Wilby won the nearest-the-pin prize for the ladies, while Peter Driscoll, on the 12th, won the men's equivalent.

■ Lewis Whiting just had the edge on countback – decided on the best back six holes – to win the men's section's midweek medal.

Division One: 1 Lewis Whiting 72-5-67 on count back from Chris Vince 70-3-67, 3 Dave Whiting 76-5-71.

Division Two: 1 Andy Softley 80-13-67, 2 Brian Jones 91-16-75, 3 Mick Dalena 92-16-76. Division Three: 1 Graham Hepworth 100-22-78, 2 Ken Johnson 101-21-80, 3 Paul Mower 108-27-81.

■ Gorton made the most of home advantage to beat Haverhill's ladies' section 2½-1½ in a friendly. And, despite all the matches being close affairs, Haverhill lost 3-1 at Bury St Edmunds.

■ Kim Ward and Paul Bartlett won the second of Haverhill's major events, the HMP Foursomes Cup.

The stableford pairs event was played off half combined handicaps, with Ward – who won the title last year with Jim Walker – and Bartlett, playing off 10, scoring 38pts.

Mel Stuart and Julian North (37pts) and Scott Turner and Roger Turner (36pts) were next on the list.

It's ours: Steve Nichols and Paul Borowy celebrate their success in the Linton Enterprise Classic at Haverhill

Mills follows Moyes route

HARRY Mills (above), the assistant professional at Haverhill, is to join the team at The Berkshire club at Ascot. He will be taking up the position vacated by Steven Moyes, who was also a former assistant pro at Coupals Road.

Haverhill's head pro, Paul Wilby, said: "It is a fantastic opportunity for Harry, who joined the club in 2002 as a junior."

"In 2009 he embarked on a career to become a PGA professional and, on behalf of everyone at Haverhill, I should like to congratulate Harry on his new appointment and wish him all the very best."

However, he will not be away too long. Mills will be returning to Haverhill next month to compete in their PGA East Region Pro-Am on June 29.

Haverhill get in swing

Northcote so deadly

HAVERHILL'S senior Sunday side knew their score at Woolpit was under-par and so it proved.

They crashed to a 10-wicket defeat in the Hunts County Bats Sunday League, Division One clash, old enemy Andy Northcote making them suffer with an unbeaten century. Haverhill won the toss, but Joe Woodley's decision to bat first on a sunny, breezy day soon backfired with his side limping to 57 for 3.

Dan Poole joined opener Steve Fox and they repaired some of the damage with a 47-run partnership.

However, Poole fell for 23 trying to increase the run rate and Russell Davis added a brisk 21, but Fox's 54 was the mainstay of their 154. Haverhill knew they had to make early inroads, but Northcote (102 not out) and Rutterford (52 not out) wore down the attack and Woolpit reached their target with 14 overs to spare.

Haverhill II's made a dismal start to their Division Three campaign, crashing to a heavy defeat against BSSSC.

After winning the toss and asking the visitors to bat, skipper Steve Saville (4 for 14) and Ben Wilkins (4 for 18) helped restrict BSSSC to 113. But the home side made the worst possible start losing a wicket without a run on the board and then rapidly losing three more for ducks as Partridge wreaked havoc with 6 for 18 off 10 overs. Only Williams (13) and Boulton (17 not out) hung around as Haverhill slid to 46 all out.

Wickets: Dan Poole.

HAVERHILL finally got their Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship campaign under way with a resounding win against Division One new boys, Elmstead Grasshoppers.

After a weather-wrecked opening month, Haverhill, fielding four players aged 18 or under, completed their first match in the fourth round of fixtures.

And what a staggering performance it was. Defending a worrying 101 – Luke Youngs digging in for a top score of 34 – seam bowlers Amit Gupta and Dan Poole knifed through the Grasshoppers' innings.

The home side were scuppered in just 48 deliveries, both bowlers taking five wickets each as Grasshoppers were skittled for a miserable 39.

Skipper Simon Youngs was full of praise for his side after the 63-run victory.

He said: "It was a great effort by the boys, you never know what a good score is until both sides have batted."

"The wicket wasn't great but we dug in as a side and got over 100. I thought we may be 20 or 30 light, but obviously this wasn't the case.

"It was all about grit and determination, someone had to stand up and be counted and Luke did that, batting for 30 overs which ultimately got us up to where we did."

"Then Amit and Dan took over. Some of their bowling was unplayable, it was great to see."

"I'm pleased for Dan as he hasn't always been given the opportunities his talent deserves, but he is relishing bowling with the new ball at the moment."

The second team also picked up a 20-point haul after Earls Colne conceded their Division Six game, while the third team's game fell foul of the weather.
